The Plan and its implementation

The Plan of the Alliance for the Prosperity of the Northern Triangle stems from the determination of the governments of El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras to provide a forceful response to the causes of the irregular migration flows that have been moving mostly to the United States.

With the aim of rooting the population in their own countries by creating economic opportunities and improving the quality of life, the countries have identified lines of action on the basis of four strategic pillars, as shown below.

Note: All the accomplishments refer to the period between June 2017 and May 2018, unless otherwise indicated.
In the field of economic integration, Guatemala and Honduras opened three integrated border crossings between their territories and began using the Central American Single Invoice and Declaration (FYDUCA) as part of the Deep Integration Process. El Salvador ratified the Agreement of Internal Tax Compatibility and deposited the Protocol of Accession to the Deep Integration Process with the Central American Integration System Secretariat, which represents substantial progress in the implementation of the Northern Triangle Customs Union.

In the area of energy, a meeting of ministers and senior authorities of the regional energy institutions in the Regional Electricity Market (MER), as well as representatives of the United States and Mexico, was held in April 2018, where they reaffirmed their commitment to: i) consolidate the interconnection between Mexico and the Central American Electrical Interconnection System (SIEPAC); and ii) carry out studies for the creation of a biregional market based on the coordination of Mexico’s electricity market and Central America’s MER, by means of appropriate regulatory harmonization.

The countries have also developed initiatives to foster investments in strategic sectors, including the Tourism Incentive Law and Tourism Investment Fund in Honduras, and the draft law on a special economic zone in the southeast of El Salvador.

- Material on women’s human rights was produced in Mayan languages through the judicial branch and the Secretariat for Women and Gender Analysis.
Honduras

PILLAR 2
Developing human capital

Migration, human trafficking and reintegration of returning migrants

- 14 campaigns were carried out to discourage irregular migration.
- August was the Prevention of Irregular Migration Month for the third consecutive year, and informative and awareness-raising sessions were carried out in the schools of the five municipalities with the highest emigration rates.
- 72,381 returned migrants received assistance through the Migrant Services Centers and the Municipal Units for the Care of Returning Migrants, with an investment of US$1.5 million.
- 61 people were apprehended in 21 operations against human trafficking between 2017 and 2018. Moreover, 17 people were sentenced, and 90 indictments were issued in the same period.
- The Unit to Combat the Trafficking and Commercial Sexual Exploitation and Smuggling of Persons was set up, attached to the General Directorate of Public Prosecutors and with nation-wide jurisdiction.
- Approval of the 2018–2027 Work Program of the Inter-Institutional Commission against the Commercial and Sexual Exploitation and Trafficking of Persons (CICESCT). The latter has worked with 21 local committees that have raised awareness of the risks associated with irregular migration, and integrated care services have been provided to victims who have returned to the country.

Services for women

- More than 100,000 women and 500 microenterprises benefited from the provision of seed capital thanks to the project I Am a Woman and It Is My Right to Live without Violence, with an investment of US$16.5 million.
- 86,273 women received comprehensive care in the Ciudad Mujer centers in Tegucigalpa, Choloma and Ciudad Mujer Móvil (which began operations in February 2018).
- The Inter-Institutional Commission on Monitoring Violent Deaths of Women and Femicide was created.
• A 7.6 percent increase was recorded in pre-primary, primary and middle-school coverage in 2017, compared to 2016.

• 2,000 youths received scholarships to study abroad in 2017 through the International Scholarship Program. In addition, 850 university students received local scholarships in 2018 thanks to the Youth Scholarship 20/20 Program.
• More than a million students from preschool to ninth grade received lunches offered in public schools in 2018.

Education

• 13 teacher training schools were transformed into Centers of Higher Education and Centers for Continuous Teacher Training between 2017 and 2018.
• Implementation of the Improving Educational Quality to Develop Employment Skills: Project Youth was begun, which seeks to improve access and quality of learning in the third cycle of basic education in priority municipalities, with an investment of US$60 million.
• The Strategic Plan for the Education Sector, PESE 2018–2030, was approved and began implementation; it seeks to continue expanding educational coverage at all levels and to improve the quality of the service.

Healthcare and social protection

• 30,000 families (about 150,000 people) escaped extreme poverty in 2017, thanks to Bono de Vida Mejor (BVM).
• The BVM also entailed a reduction in diarrheal diseases (3.8 percent) and respiratory infections (4.4 percent); a decline in the number of children under five years of age suffering from malnourishment (26 percent) and anemia (14 percent); and an increase in public education enrolment (4.6 percent) and school attendance (5.1 percent) in 2017, compared to 2016.

• About 1.3 million people in conditions of vulnerability and extreme poverty received meals in 2017.
• The Dream of Ownership Program was launched, which seeks to provide accessible financing for the purchase or construction of housing. To that end, the Trust for Honduran Housing was established with US$24.8 million. 10,000 families are expected to benefit in the next five years.
The countries’ security institutions have increased the coordination and implementation of joint operations through the Trinational Task Force to effectively combat gangs and transnational organized crime. In addition, progress has been made on cooperation and information sharing between the attorneys general of the Northern Triangle and the United States.

As a result of these efforts, the murder rate in 2017 fell by 26 percent in Honduras, 25 percent in El Salvador and 2 percent in Guatemala compared to 2016. This meant that there were 2,792 fewer violent deaths in the subregion than in the previous year.

In 2018 Guatemala, Honduras, and Mexico began their integration into the Joint Border Intelligence Group (GCIF), which has been set up in El Salvador with US support. The group seeks to suppress organized crime and gangs by weakening the illicit sources of finance of these organizations.

At the same time, there has been an increase in the detention, prosecution and arraignment of public officials involved in corruption.
Security

- There were 1,326 fewer homicides in 2017 compared to 2016, continuing the downward trend in homicides for the second consecutive year.
- 83 municipalities (32 percent of all municipalities) have been declared homicide-free in 2018 as a result of national efforts in the area of citizen security.
- 1,969 police operations were executed nation-wide in 2017, affecting 228 criminal structures and 49 organized criminal gangs. The following operations are notable: i) Operación Tecana, in which US$86 million, more than 90 vehicles, and firearms were confiscated; and ii) Operación sin Fronteras, which involved raids and the seizure of properties, weapons, ammunition, and vehicles worth more than US$100 thousand.
- 7,974 kg of drugs, valued at US$193 million, were seized in 2017.
- Video surveillance systems were installed in five municipalities with an investment of US$3 million that have produced excellent outcomes in terms of violence prevention and criminal prosecution.
- The extension of extraordinary security measures was approved, ensuring effective control of the prison system.
- 22,000 inmates (56 percent of the prison population) take part in the I Change Program, which operates in 15 prisons and seeks to foster reintegration of ex-convicts to avert recidivism.
- 667 persons currently in training to become officials of the National Civilian Police, which they will complete between January and July 2019.

Judicial operators

- The ordinary budget of the Attorney General’s Office was reinforced with US$7.9 million from the Special Contribution for Citizen Security and Civic Coexistence in 2017.
- Investigations and prosecution of cases related to alleged confrontations, contract killing, and summary executions were restructured.
- The Criminal Persecution Policy was launched, which defines the mandatory criteria and guidelines of the institutional framework of action for the Attorney General’s Office.
Security

• 36 criminal structures were dismantled and 123 seizure proceedings were executed, thanks to the efforts of the Public Prosecutor’s Office and the Ministry of the Interior between April 2017 and February 2018.
• 568 officers of the National Civilian Police have been discharged or detained as part of operations to clean up the police force carried out by the Ministry of the Interior.

• The National Security Policy was approved as an integrated and coordinated effort of the National Security System.
• The Protocol on Support for Victims and Survivors in the Integrated Care System, as well as the System for the Protection of Security Measures and Standardized, Timely and Quality Care for Female Victims and Survivors of Violence was implemented.
• The Protocol on Policing in the Event of Collective Violence, Crime Attempt, Beatings and Lynching was approved and implemented by the judicial branch.

Judicial operators

• The Public Prosecutor’s Office executed US$5 million in the framework of the Justice Sector Support Program in 2017.
• 240 prosecutors were trained in forensic oratory, strategic criminal prosecution and gender perspective, among other topics.
• 51 people were extradited from Guatemala to the United States in 2017 and 2018.
• Four prosecution agencies were set up at the department level: Chimaltenango, Huehuetenango, Quetzaltenango and San Marcos.
• The Prosecutor’s Office for Children and Adolescents was created, which is responsible for the response to and criminal prosecution of actions against human rights and the comprehensive development of children and adolescents.

• The Democratic Criminal Policy of Guatemala and the Democratic Criminal Prosecution Policy developed by the Public Prosecutor’s Office were approved.
• 2,900 electronic notifications received in the judicial branch’s inbox set up in the Public Prosecutor’s Office since 2017, ensuring a swift, affordable and secure notification mechanism.
• A 67 percent increase (US$600,000) in the investments of the judicial branch, reaching US$1.5 million, was recorded in 2018. Peace courts, multi-person courts and courts of first instance have been created, as has the Chamber of the Criminal Branch Court of Appeals on Tax and Customs Matters and the Family Mediation Center.
• 287 new positions in the Public Prosecutor’s Office (an eight percent increase in its personnel) between 2017 and 2018, strategically distributed in the new district attorneys’ offices.
Honduras

Security

- The homicide rate fell from 59 per 100,000 inhabitants in 2016 to 42.8 in 2017. In addition, the Inter-Institutional Strategic Security Plan 2018–2022, which identifies activities that will help cut the rate by eight homicides per year, was adopted.
- 1,084 new police officers graduated under the Police Technological Institute’s new curriculum between 2017 and 2018.
- Prison overcrowding was reduced by 44 percent. Moreover, five thousand prisoners were transferred for classification according to the level of danger they pose.
- The National Anti-Mara and Gang Unit, an elite section supported by the FBI that is responsible for fighting extortion and specializing in detaining high-profile targets, was created.
- The Honduras Joven, Por Mi Barrio and Mi Segunda Oportunidad programs were created, which provide youths with seed capital.
- The Police Career Law and the Organic Law of the State Secretariat for Security and of the National Police of Honduras were created.
- 35,000 children and adolescents receive permanent services at 64 Youth Outreach Centers located in seven departments of the country, focusing on creative use of free time, job training and academic tutoring.

Judicial operators

- US$78.1 million allocated to the budget of the Public Prosecutor’s Office in 2018, an eight percent increase over 2017.
- 2,616 victims and witnesses in conditions of vulnerability were provided services at Specialized Comprehensive Care Modules of the Public Prosecutor’s Office in the first quarter of 2018.
- 19 people facing drug trafficking and money laundering charges were extradited from Honduras to the United States since 2014.
- 65,000 people were benefited with the opening of the first Mobile Justice of the Peace Court in the country’s western region.
- The judicial case backlog (cases pending sentencing) has been reduced from 26 percent to 10 percent.
The Northern Triangle countries’ fiscal outlook has improved. El Salvador has made significant efforts to ensure fiscal sustainability, including the approval of reforms to the pension system and of a program to strengthen tax administration.

Honduras satisfactorily completed its 2014-2017 economic program with the International Monetary Fund and has effectively implemented an austerity policy. Guatemala maintains a solid fiscal position, with a view to increasing social investments.
PILLAR 4
Strengthening institutions

El Salvador

Institutions and transparency

• 21 reforms related to crimes of corruption and enshrined in the Criminal and Procedural Code were drafted by the State Experts Roundtable, following up on the United Nations Convention against Corruption.
• US$657 thousand worth of goods were donated to the institutions involved in asset forfeiture by the National Council on Asset Management (CONAB) to 2017.
• 42 journalists from Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and El Salvador participated in the Riesgo Cruzado course, in order to socialize communication strategies in high-risk situations, in coordination with the National Civilian Police.
• The Fiscal Transparency website was redesigned and relaunched, enabling access to 202,096 documents from 239 public institutions.
• The National Public Training School (ENAFOP) was established, training and graduating 21 professionals on public employment and labor rights, 80 officers on acquisitions and contracting and 14 directors on eight international courses.
• The Integrated Early Warning System to Improve Internal Control in the Institutions of the Executive Branch (SIATCI) was presented publicly, and 174 internal auditors from 87 public institutions were trained in the use of the system.

Revenue collection and expenditure management

• US$127 million were raised in tax revenue during 2017, and another US$13 million from January to March 2018, thanks to the Law on the Special Contribution of Large Taxpayers for the Citizen Security Plan and the Law on the Special Contribution for Citizen Security and Civic Coexistence.
• An Integrated Financial Management System was developed, allowing for the implementation of new budgetary technologies and the presentation of financial information in line with international standards.
• The Municipal Financial Administration System was launched, which integrates budget, treasury, accounting and tax administration management, and strengthens transparency.
• Reforms to the Law on the Savings System for Pensions and the Trust Fund and Retirement Obligations Law, which ensure the sustainability of the pensions system.
• Local-level consultations were held between January 2017 and May 2018 to inform the population of the selection process for beneficiaries of social policy programs that are being implemented, in accordance with the Law on Development and Social Protection.
Institutions and transparency

- 69,874 consultations under the Freedom of Information Law were received in 2017. All of them were resolved by the institutions that received them.
- The open data portals of the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Finance, as well as the Guatemalan Open Data portal, were launched.
- Implementation of the Third Open Government Plan was completed in the first half of 2018, with an execution level of 89 percent.
- The Vice Ministry of Fiscal Transparency and Public Procurement was created within the Ministry of Public Finance.
- Offices to promote transparency and anti-corruption efforts were created in the Ministry of Public Health and Social Assistance and the Ministry of Labor and Social Security. Moreover, the Superintendent of Tax Administration activated a telephone number to receive reports of corruption within the institution.
- The Presidential Commission on Open Public Management and Transparency was set up as the institution responsible for promoting initiatives in the areas of open government, transparency, e-government and anti-corruption mechanisms.

Revenue collection and expenditure management

- 172 operations against smuggling and customs fraud were executed.
- The Superintendent of Tax Administration (SAT) developed a portfolio of projects to support transparency, including the Central American Invoice and Single Declaration (FYDUCA) and the new electronic platform for registration and updating of exporters.
Honduras

Institutions and transparency

- 335 procedures have been published on the single portal for government procedures.
- The Human Rights Office was raised to the rank of State Secretariat, fulfilling the commitment acquired during the June 2017 Conference on Prosperity and Security.
- The IV Honduras Open Government Action Plan (PAGAH) 2018–2020 was launched, which was formulated by the country’s different sectors.
- The Declaration to Consolidate Honduras as an Open State was signed by the three branches of government, comptroller offices, the Institute for Access to Public Information (IAIP) and the Honduran Association of Municipalities (AHMON).
- The Inter-Agency Roundtable on Transparency and Anti-Corruption was set up to review the National Policy on Transparency, Integrity and the Prevention of Corruption.
- Progress has been made on high-profile cases, including the sentencing of two former vice ministers and a magistrate of the Judicial Council between 2018 and 2018, thanks to the partnership between the Mission to Support the Fight against Corruption and Impunity in Honduras (MACCIH) and the Special Prosecutor’s Unit against the Impunity of Corruption.
- The Integral Transparency, Probity and Ethics Policy of Honduras (PITPEH) 2018–2030 was approved.
- The Clean Politics Law was approved, increasing transparency in political campaign finance.

Revenue collection and expenditure management

- A 1.2 percent increase in tax revenues was reported in the first quarter of 2018, compared to the same period of 2017.
- Honduras has placed strict limits on its levels of national debt, deficit and spending. Moreover, the country has fostered institutional efficiency and public accountability, in line with the Law on Fiscal Responsibility.
- The fiscal deficit fell from 7.9 percent of GDP in 2014 to 3.2 percent in 2017.
- Savings of US$39 million were accrued thanks to the implementation of eight online catalogues, in line with the Law on Efficient and Transparent Procurement through Electronic Media.
Looking forward, in order to meet the Plan’s goals, Northern Triangle countries must not only consolidate achievements in the areas of justice, security and the fight against corruption, but also respond to the challenges they face in creating jobs, improving competitiveness, and boosting economic growth.

To heighten the effectiveness of the Plan and its impact on the creation of opportunities and the improvement of quality of life, El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras will prioritize the following actions:
Attaining an effective regional communications strategy that makes it possible to disseminate the Plan’s components, efforts undertaken and the impacts of those efforts on the lives of the subregion’s population.

Progressing in the development of a mid-term evaluation to review the relevance of the premises that guided the structuring of the Plan, efforts to date and achieved results. The evaluation will enable the identification of any adjustments that need to be implemented and, if required, the articulation of new mechanisms and tools to increase the effectiveness of their actions.

Strengthening mechanisms for the participation of the private sector and civil society based on the experience gained in the consultative councils.

Jointly developing a system to monitor the programs and initiatives executed by the countries within the Plan’s framework, as well as the achieved outcomes, taking into account each country’s context and needs.

Attaining an effective regional communications strategy that makes it possible to disseminate the Plan’s components, efforts undertaken and the impacts of those efforts on the lives of the subregion’s population.
